Means to Buy Grandview Lots

Because they are just about the best buy in the southwest and our way of selling them on easy terms makes it possible for every wage earner in El Paso to own a home site.

All modern improvements have been established, including electricity, gas, car service, telephones and pure water.

Grandview is being rapidly populated by El Paso's most substantial citizens. Home building is incessant—Lot buying is vigorous, but in spite of all its superior advantages, the prices are absurdly low.

Go out tomorrow and see for yourself just why we are selling more lots in Grandview than are being sold in any other subdivision of El Paso.

Terms Are $10 Down and $5 a Month

PRISONER IN REYISTA CASE CALLS DISTRICT ATTORNEY A DOG

Lively Passage of Words Enhances Federal Court; Injunction Granted Railroad

A prisoner at the bar calling the United States district attorney a dog was an incident in the trial of the alleged Reyistas in the federal court Friday afternoon which jarred the dignity of that judicial body.

Attorney Charles A. Boynton, representing the government, was addressing the jury in the case of the United States against Dr. Rafael Molina, and others charged with conspiracy to set on foot a revolution against a friendly country. Dr. Molina, while on the stand in his own behalf, referred to the Reyistas and Magonistas as being as friendly as cats and dogs.

The United States district attorney took this remark upon and played upon it in his argument before the jury. He said in substance that if the Reyistas as Magonistas were cats and dogs, then Dr. Molina, judging from his attitude on the witness stand, must be the cat and the dogs.

At this point Fernando Palomares, a California Mexican, who was arrested together with the other alleged Reyistas, took the district attorney's remark as applying to himself, as he was accused of being connected with the Magon movement.

"You are a dog yourself," Palomares is said to have shouted across the court room from the prisoner's dock at the district attorney.

Tells Jury to Ignore It.
Judge Walter T. Burns, presiding at the trial, told the jury that he did not hear the remark or the attorney's argument, which led up to it. When his attention was called to the incident he instructed the jury not to take the remarks of the district attorney or the prisoner into consideration.

The mills of the gods may grind slowly, but the mills of the federal court have a modern day husle on them. Judge Burns is anxious to complete the term this week and he has been shooting cases through the mill in rapid fire order. After spending the day hearing the Reyista revolutionary cases all day, Judge Burns, as soon as he had instructed the jury, and it had retired, called the injunction case of the Southern Pacific against the shopmen strikers. This case was an application for an injunction restraining the strikers from interfering with the operation of trains or from molesting company property.

Grants S. P. Injunction.
Judge Burns politely interrupted the attorney for the strikers, who was presenting his plea for a demurrer, and informed him that the other federal judges of the state had decided similar cases in favor of the railroad company and had granted the injunction asked for. He thereupon overruled the motion and the next case was called.

Alleged White Slave Case Called.
This case was that of the United States government against Cora Wilson, charged with bringing a woman from Kansas City to El Paso for immoral purposes in violation of the white slave law. By the time the case was called it was 5:30, and the lawyers had started to look at their watches in anticipation of dinner. But the presiding judge announced that the case would be taken up and disposed of, or, if it took a night session.

A number of cases were called and continued by the judge in his effort to complete the term by Saturday.

BILLIE RAND ON HIS AUTO TOUR

Reaches Bisbee and Reports Roads in Good Shape Along Journey.

Billie Rand and his touring car continue to beat it across the desert to Los Angeles over the border auto route. The Bisbee Review says:

W. J. Rand, of El Paso, who is a prominent business man and a member of the El Paso Automobile club, arrived in the city last night at 8 o'clock, having come overland in his automobile from the Paso City, leaving there last Saturday morning. After having his machine oiled up he left for Tucson. He is en route to Los Angeles.

Mr. Rand is accompanied by his son, Clarence, Sid Humphreys and M. E. Newell, all of El Paso. Mr. Rand said that with the exception of the hills in southeastern New Mexico, the roads that he had encountered so far were in excellent condition, especially those in southeastern Arizona and Cochise county. He was enthusiastic over the Bisbee-Bogalusa highway, which he declared was one of the best pieces of road in the southwest.

Mr. Rand is keeping a record of his trip and is reporting had places to the various commercial clubs and automobile clubs along the route. He had none to report in this part of the country. He is the first tourist to go over the Borderland route of the transcontinental highway.

passage, the street car officials hold, and the passengers on the various lines must take the next car or forfeit their right to use the transfer.

In the past transfers have been accepted any time during the same day. Under the new company ruling one hour will be the limit for holding transfers and anyone offering a transfer more than 60 minutes old will be required to pay another fare. In case the passenger should refuse, the conductors have been instructed to have the passengers sign their names on the back of the transfer and this is turned in to the transfer station. When the company will take whatever action it can in the premises.

The practice of exchanging transfers has been in use on a number of the crosstown lines. Passengers from Fort Bliss and from Washington park exchange transfers which they obtain on the fort and park lines. This enables them to make the round trip for five cents. To break up this practice, the company started running the fort cars to the park and the park cars to the fort and refusing to give transfers. It has been held by some that in Texas a transfer is good until it is used. This is denied by the street car company, whose officials say this matter is fixed by the city franchise agreement. Printed on the transfer slips is the notice that the slip is "good for one continuous trip" and is to be used on the next connecting car.
